Canadian Tubefly Company

the evolution of west coast fly fishing

A sister site of . . .

We have now had several successful years on the Internet selling quality salmon and steelhead flies and other fly fishing related sporting goods. Our original fly shop, ADIPOS FLYTYING, has exploded now offering over 150 different steelhead and salmon fly patterns. Fly tying has become much more than a hobby to us!

There has been a recent "awakening" in the fly tying industry to the concept of tube flies. Tube flies have been around for some time now, particularly in Europe. It's only recently that tube flies have been successfully fly fished on the west coast of Alaska, Washington, B.C., and Oregon.

Several fly tiers (including ourselves) have been developing both new and traditional fly patterns and putting them on tubes. The only problem is that (to our knowledge) they are not yet readily available in fly shops and very limited choices are available on the internet.

As an already successful source for flies on the Internet, we felt that tube flies deserved their own place on the web.

We know that many of our customers are not comfortable ordering over the Internet. To make the process run smoother for those who are a bit apprehensive, we have produced this catalogue. Orders can now be phoned or emailed in. We can then create an invoice for you and confirm payment from there! Please note that because 85% of our business is in the United States, our listed prices are in US dollars.

Soft Tubing

Flex Tube

We have been developing a softer, flexible, temperature resistant tubing material, that will meet the needs of tube fly fishermen. Our custom extruded Flex Tube has arrived.! Flex Tube comes in a wide range of colours, both bright and transparent to really add life to the body of your fly. Flex Tube is softer so your plastic flies do not need a junction tube. Most hooks will fit into the end of the actual pattern you create. Flex Tube can also be used as junction tube for Bottle , Shumakov, and Tapered Tubes. Endless colour combinations to give the back of your pattern that extra kick,

Junction Tube

A super material that allows you to connect your tube fly to your hook. Available in Large, and Extra Large sizes.

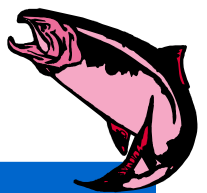

Wiggle Tube

We have been developing an extremely flexible tube that has an unbelievable lifelike movement in the water. Our new Wiggle Tube is perfect for making any pattern that requires movement while in the current. Often used for leech imitations or snake flies, these tubes allow one to have an extremely long body that moves with the hook,

Platic Liner Tube

Our Inside Liner tube has many applications. Not only is it used to line Juri Shumakov Tubes, it's also the lining we use in our Micro Metal Tubes. This small diameter, rigid tubing is translucent and can also be used on its own for small pattern that require a slim profile. One of its best attributes is that it burns so nicely. When you put it to an open flame it slowly curls up on itself making a fantastic lip that holds its shape without discoloring. Because it curled up on itself it also works very well for holding cones and beads onto your pattern. Also, because of its small diameter you can use many "regular" cones and beads that are much cheaper than cones designed for tubes.

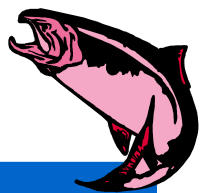

Tapered Tube

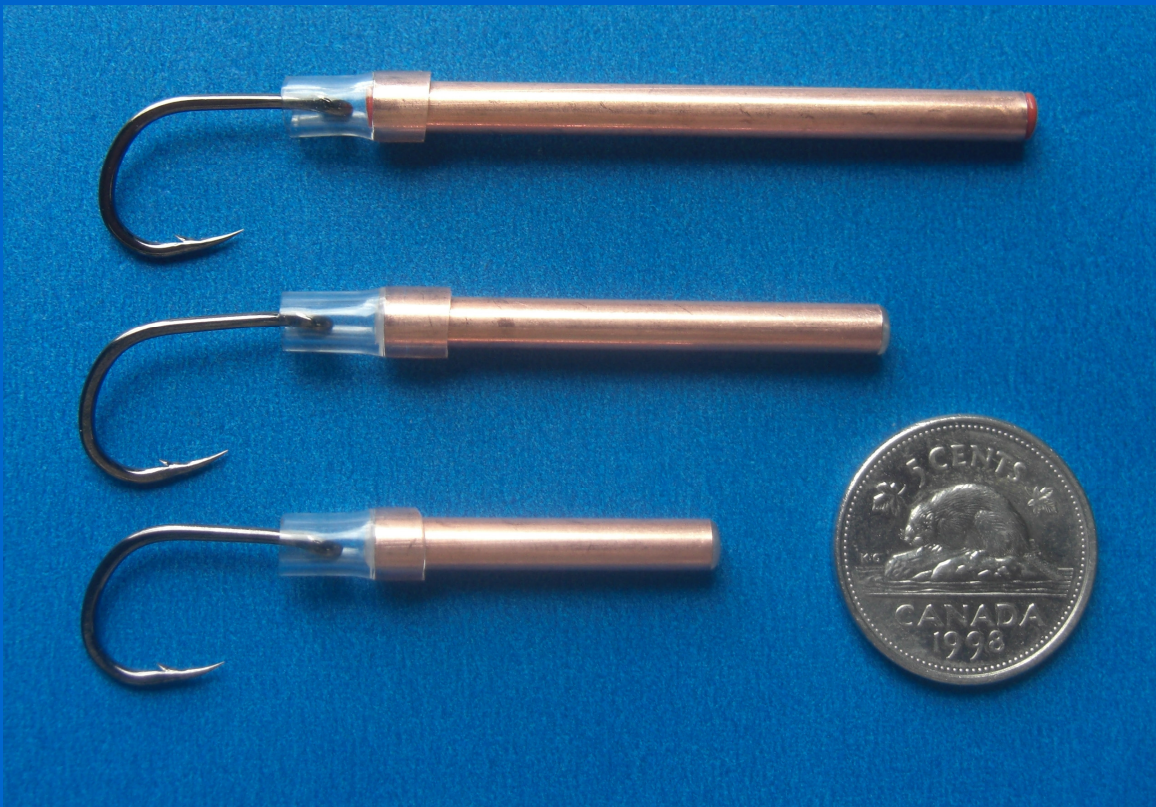

The late Juri Shumakov discovered these a few years ago. They are unique in that they allow a large profile fly while still maintaining a small head like a traditional hooked pattern. All Tapered Tubes come complete with a length of clear vinyl junction tube to secure your hook in place.

Metal Tubing

Bottle Tube

These little beauties are smaller than our standard tubes, though they are incredibly heavy for their size! All Bottle Tubes come complete with a length of clear vinyl junction tube to secure your hook in place.

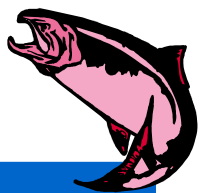

Ridged Bottle Tube

These little beauties are unique in that they have a ridge at the base that really grabs hold of your junction tube. They come in 4 sizes (22mm, 16mm, 12mm, and 9mm) and five types, alloy, brass, copper, gunsmoke, and silver. The fantastic taper allows you to create a pattern with a smaller head!

Standard Metal Tube

Controlling the weight of your tube fly is a must! We are now proud to offer aluminum, brass, copper, and stainless steel tubes in two different diameters and three different lengths. These tubes are polished to a high gloss and come complete with clear plastic inserts. The inserts are easily melted in place with an open flame. The smaller diameter tubes are perfect for adding cones too....yet another way to control the sink rate of your favourite pattern!

Shumakov Tubes

We are proud to offer Yuri Shumakov's Long Range and Skittle Tubes. Our friend Yuri, passed away in August of 2006. His innovative tubes were revolutionary to the tube fly world. He will be truly missed. All Shumakov Tubes come complete with a length of plastic liner and junction tube.

Barbell Tubes

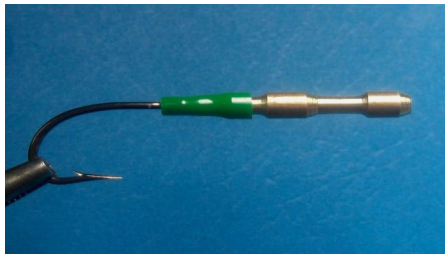

Barbell tubes are a fantastic way to have the look of a weight forward tube, with a cone shape head, yet still have an additional punch of weight to really get you down to holding fish in a hurry. All the tying is done in the middle section of the tube, giving you a nice metallic flash on both the front and rear of the fly.

They come in 2 sizes (22mm and 15mm) and four types, brass, copper, gunsmoke, and silver.

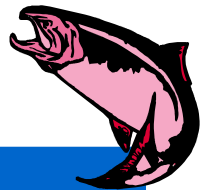

Nubby Tubes

These fantastic tubes allow you to have the built in convenience of a bead head. You simply tie on your pattern and leave the "Nub" at the end to create your own tube with an extra punch of weight at the front. A super solution to solving hook "hang down". They come in 2 sizes (22mm and 15mm) and four types, brass, copper, gunsmoke, and silver.

Bullett Tubes

By far the heaviest tube we have available. If you have ever been in a situation where your fly could not get down to the bottom, you will love these in your arsenal! Polished both inside and out, these tubes are short and solid, idea for two handed rods. Also idea for bait fish imitations in the salt water!

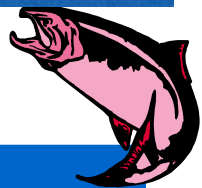

Micro Metal Tubes

Our smallest diameter linear tube (3/32 " outside diameter), this fantastic product comes in 1 or 1.5 inch lengths. Though all five finishes are the same weight, the high polish gives these flies a unique look in the water. Tubes come complete with plastic liners so they ride smoothly up and down your line.

Eumer Tubes

Finnish tube body manufacturer Eumer has created some exciting new tube designs that have built on the premise of the original Shumakov Tubes. These tubes come complete with inner lining tube as well as joining tube. Give them a try today!

Metallic Cone Heads

Super for adding that extra weight to your favourite tube. These can be used in conjunction with Eumer, Shumakov, Micro metal, Standard Metal, Plastic, Flex, and Tapered tubes. All you need is Liner Tube and the possibilities are endless.....

Vise Adapters & Tools

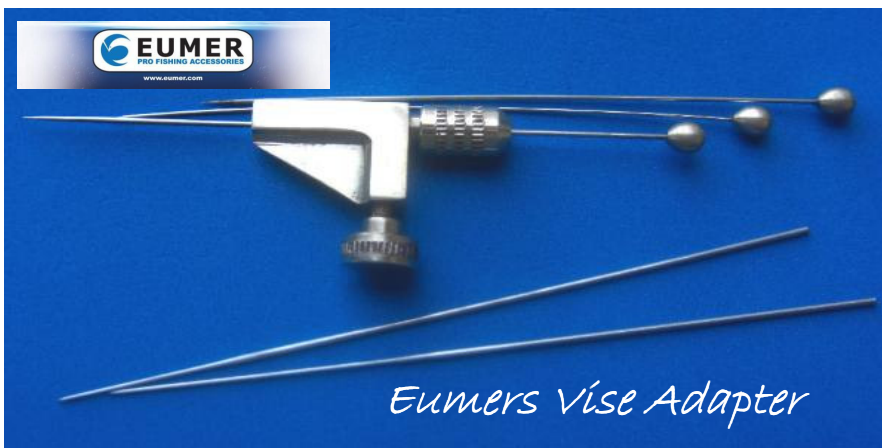

Vise Adapters

Contrary to what many people will tell you, tying tube flies does not have to be complicated or expensive. This adapter simply slips into the jaws of your existing vise. It comes complete with three different diameter mandrels (pins).

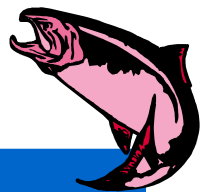

A fantastic adapter put out by Snowbee's in the UK. Comes complete with two different sized Mandrels and will fit into any size existing vise.

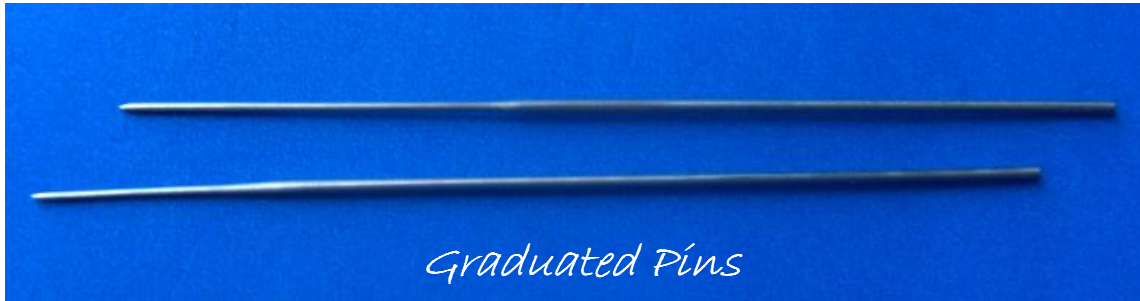

A very nice tool put out by Eumer of Finland. This little beauty comes complete with three different sized mandrels that secure in with two separate screw knobs. Not only do you get the adapter and three mandrels, you also get two different sized graduated pins for specialty jobs!

Tube Tying Tools

Graduated Pins

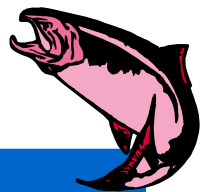

A great tool for any tube tying. These stainless steel pins are graduated to really grab hold of your tube. They can be used in a vise, on their own, or in conjunction with a tube fly vise adapter. Pins come in two sizes, one with the graduation starting at 3 cm, the other starting at 4 cm.

Plastic Tube Cutter

If you have ever cut rigid plastic tubes, you will know that scissors do not work so well. A razor blade is another option, though these new tube cutters combine the ease of scissors with the clean cut lines of a razor. A must for any tube tyer!

Tube Fly Furs

Tube Fly Furs

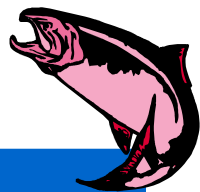

In experimenting with different furs we stumbled across an unlikely source for creating fantastic wings for Scandinavian style tube flies. This unique fur allows you to make a nice tapered wing that has the same rigidity as bucktail but with a much smaller diameter. We often use Prairie Dog as an under wing because of its taper and ability to 'hold up' the more delicate wing you may put on top. Combine Prairie Dog with Icelandic Sheep, Fox Tail, or T's Fur for some fantastic looking wings!

A fantastic new product from Tony DiBenedetto that captures all of the essence of the late Juri Shumakov's Russian Silver Fleece. This premium fur is dyed to perfection and has the unbelievable light reflecting qualities of the famous and hard to get "Serebrjanka" fur!

Using fur with a natural taper is a must for many tube fly patterns. Those of us who have used Temple Dog fur know how much better a fish looks and 'swims' when the wing is shaped the proper way. Our Select Fox Tail comes in 12 fantastic colours and has the same natural teardrop taper of the hard to find temple dog fur.

To Order Call: 1-800-572-7493

Tube Fly Furs

A fantastic natural fiber that has been lovingly combed out and dyed to perfection. Many of these pieces measure out with hair over 8 inches. The most important part of all is the natural taper that makes this fiber a winner for not only Scandinavian style wings but also for fantastic salt water patterns.

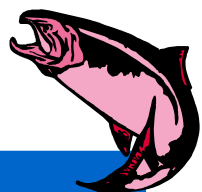

A truly unique fur that has an incredibly soft under-fur with long guard hairs. When wet, a wing made from coyote mats together and creates an excellent teardrop shape.

A shorter fur (when compared to the other furs we offer) that has an amazingly soft under-fur and hollow guard hairs. A fantastic wing material for Shumakov tubes!

To Order Call: 1-800-572-7493

Tube Fly Furs

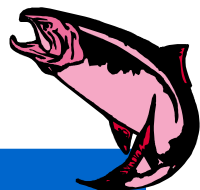

Polar bear is unmatched when it comes to electiveness and transparency. Tube fly tyers marvel at the ability of Polar Bear as an under wing on traditional Scandy flies. Not only does it hold up a softer over wing, light makes these wings come alive!

The original and still best dubbing for tube flies! For anyone who has used authentic seal dubbing, the translucent qualities are well known and can not be fully replicated with any other dubbing.

Plumage

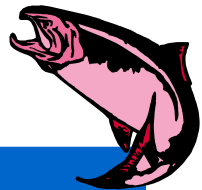

Heron

The ORIGINAL spey feather (other than the extinct Spey Cock). We have aquired these rare feathers for a limited time and supply. If you have tied with Heron substitutes like Rhea or Blue Eared Pheasant, you will quickly notice how much better the original is. Unfortunately we are NOT able to sell these to US CUSTOMERS (controlled species)

Plumage

These five inch long, Lady Amherst Tail sections are chosen from extra select, large tails. Many of the fibers measure out at over three inches long! The fibers add life to any long, webby pattern and are fantastic for intruders!

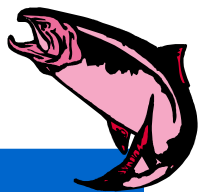

Strung Ringneck Pheasant Rump. These beautiful feathers can be used as "poor mans spey" hackles on a variety of flies. These come complete in strung packages of between 30-40 feathers. Most are suitable for hackles and shell backs an patterns such as General Practitioners.

Mallard Flank. These super feathers can be used as fantastic collars or "poor mans spey" on a variety of flies including spider patterns. These come complete in loose packages of between 50-60 feathers. Sizes range from medium to extra large for bigger flies and tubes.

Plumage

Teal Flank Feathers. These beautiful feathers can be used as fantastic collars on a variety of flies. These come complete in loose packages of between 30-40 feathers. Sizes range from medium to extra large for bigger flies and tubes. Very well marked barring on these feathers make them particularly attractive to both fish and fishermen.

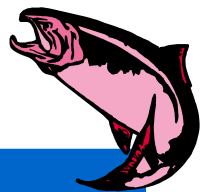

Guinea Fowl. These spotted feathers can be used as fantastic collars and throats on a variety of flies. These come complete in strung packages of between 30-40 strung feathers. Very well marked dots.

Very similar to teal, these extra large, select feathers, are a must on tube flies. Hand picked for long, dark coloured barbs, these feathers have to be seen to be believed. Their quality and size are superb.

To Order Call: 1-800-572-7493

Plumage

Sometimes called the "poor mans spey", our extra select schlappen comes from large birds that give you an extra long feather suitable for wrapping tubes. The barbs can be stripped on one side for a "spey" effect, or wrapped on in full to give a bushier appearance.

Available in 14 vibrant colours!

Blue Peacock Feather. The fantastic blue colour of these flies is not reproducible with any natural or synthetic material.

Feathers come 10 per package.

Green Peacock Feather. The same attractive qualities of the blue feathers, only a bit shorter and green. Excellent for cheeks.

Feathers come 10 per package.

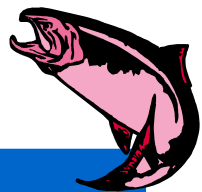

Peacock Sword. A fantastic addition to any pattern!

12 inch Peacock Quill. A very hard to come by feather Excellent for creating very unique wings on tubes.

Tube Boxes

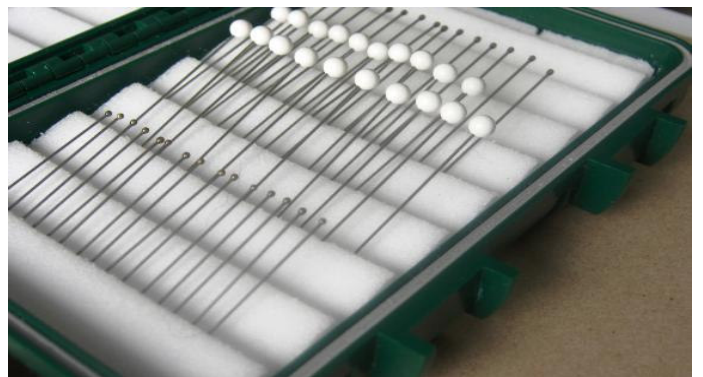

CTFC Storage System I Box

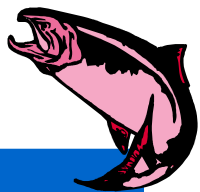

We have adapted a system that has been used in the UK for some time now. It uses a simple closed cell foam harness that snugly secures the head of your tube while the hook fastens in the foam pad just like a regular fly box. Because of the closed cell memory foam, this box will hold any size tubes. For anyone who has opened a compartment box on a windy day, this box is a must....no longer will you be chasing down flies that get caught in the wind!

CTFC Storage System II Box

There are several tube fly box designs on the market today, some good, most bad! Several designs use graduated pins that sit "point out" from the box and the tubes are simply pushed onto the pin until the taper secures the fly in place. These designs work well until you drop the box or drive down a gravel road. Our new design of the CTFC Storage System II uses straight, stainless steel pins, that gives you control over your box. The custom made pins come in two different head styles and in lengths from 1 inch (for smaller Shumakov or bottle tubes) and as long as 2 1/8 inch lengths for longer flies. Since you push the pins in, you control how tight you want to pack your box. We have fit as many as 50 large saltwater flies in this box.
